'The Evolutionary Antecedents of Obesity'

Evolutionary medicine provides insights into understanding why we are experiencing a global pandemic of obesity, and what we might do about it.

The presenter, Leslie Sue Lieberman, Ph.D., is a Professor of Anthropology and the founding Director of the Women's Research Center at UCF. She is a biomedical anthropologist with research specializations in type-2 diabetes, nutrition, and obesity. She has co-authored or edited 11 books, and published over 70 journal articles and book chapters. Her research has been supported by NIH, NSF, HRSA, NIMH, and others. She is a member and past-president of the Florida Academy of Sciences.

On the first Wednesday of every month, scientific experts and lay community meet in a cafe or bar to explore the latest scientific ideas and discoveries, using plain language.

Admission is free, and you need no reservation—just come ready to listen and offer opinions.

Café Scientifique started in England in 1998, and aims to demystify scientific research, inform, and engage the public with science, outside a traditional academic setting.
